Fiery Digital Factory 12.0.3 Overview

This update brings new support for the use of fluorescent inks in the processing color space. This allows fluorescent colors to be used throughout the entire print, boosting color vibrancy. In addition, this update also brings some extra improvements and fixes to the profiling process.

New Features

- Digital Factory now has improved support for fluorescent inks in the process color space.

Changes and Improvements

- Optimized the amount of swatches required when profiling multi-color printers.

Fixes

- Added missing references for light cyan and light magenta inks during profiling.
- Fixed an issue where size A3 and A4 charts would not generate when using a Nix spectrophotometer.
